BACKGROUND

April has had a love for missions and other countries from a young age. Her passion drew her to travel to India and help in a children's school when she was 17, and she returned to the same school the following year. She spent five years in her 20's serving with Youth With a Mission in Australia, Papua New Guinea, Irian Jaya, India, and the USA. During this time she was trained as a Primary Health Care worker, helped train others, and ran free health clinics in remote villages alongside a team. In India, she worked with local young people training them for ministry.

April has a passion for the local church and has served in her home churches over the years as a youth group leader and young adults leader. Over the past years, April has encountered the grace of God in life changing ways. She had an encounter with grace, learned the power of love to heal and restore and is beyond grateful for the places God has brought her out of and into.

April currently runs her business, The Kindred Creative, a web design and branding company. She recently started a product line of modern boho art called Luna Sky, which is currently sold in The Olive Branch in Wilmore, KY.

She loves coffee, good design, yoga, baking, plants, and adventures. You can usually find her with a cup of coffee in hand, creating something or thinking up yet another idea.

April grew up in central Ohio, traveled all over the world, and currently lives in Nicholasville, Kentucky with her husband, Andrew and two awesome kiddos, Emma Grace + Noah Thomas. She loves to snuggle with their new puppy, Eowyn.
